THIS IS A MEANINGFUL LEGACY.

The Auburn Family Thanks the George Petrie Society for its Support

Through The Auburn Creed, George Petrie left a legacy that defines and unites the Auburn Family. Today, the George Petrie Society emphasizes the vital importance of planned gifts — charitable commitments through wills, annuities, or trusts — and honors donors for creating a legacy for Auburn University and Auburn Montgomery through these unique philanthropic opportunities.

The Petrie Society held its biennial recognition program and dinner at The Hotel at Auburn University and Dixon Conference Center on April 11, 2014, at which time the society:
• numbered 841 households,
• welcomed 156 new households, and
• included active planned gifts with a total value of $463 million for the benefit of Auburn and Auburn Montgomery.

Contributions by Petrie Society members to the Auburn University Foundation increase scholarship and fellowship opportunities for students, support high-quality faculty and instruction, and enhance academic and student programs.

To see a complete listing of Petrie Society members, along with photos of the April 11 event, go to https://develop.auburn.edu/recognitions.

For more information about the Petrie Society or Auburn University’s other recognition societies, please contact the Donor Relations office by emailing donor.relations@auburn.edu, calling 334.844.1322, or visiting https://develop.auburn.edu/recognitions.

“Planned gifts are essential because they ensure the future of our university. By their very nature, they are forward-looking and represent donors’ recognition of the importance of ensuring the viability of our university — now and in the future.”

– Jane DiFolco Parker
President, Auburn University Foundation and Auburn University Vice President for Development

THIS IS AUBURN.